Arkansas Voters
Wise in Providing for Lieut.-Governor

Our sister states may sometimes scold at Arkansas but current news developments indicate that our state government's setup is superior to that of at least one commonwealth.

Florida is plagued by a division of ex-convict authority which traces back to a state constitution. In Florida, the newly-elected governor, young Dan McCarty, died of a heart attack and was succeeded as chief executive by Charles E. Jones, president of the Florida state senate. Now Governor Jones is demanding the resignation of the late McCarty's appointees, and the latter are defying him on the grounds that they are the heirs of McCarty's mandate from the people of all Florida while Jones was elected solely by the folks in one senatorial district.

The issue threatens the basic security of state government in Florida — all because there is no provision in the Florida constitution for the state-wide election of a lieutenant-governor, to serve should the governor be incapacitated or die, as McCarty did.

There is provision for a lieutenant-governor in the great state of New York, but New York has a hot fight on its hands because the elected lieutenant-governor resigned. New York Governor Tom Dewey is, of course, alive and fully functioning. But his present legal successor, a man named Wicks, is mixed up in a scandal. Wicks, majority leader of the New York state senate, was exposed as having paid a secret to a prison where a labor organizer named Pay was serving a term for extortion.

Governor Dewey said Wicks had compromised the state administration and should resign from his No. 2 post in the New York government. Wicks refused, pointing out that he was responsible only to the state senate which had elected him the senate's president.

Whatever the local circumstances, the effect of the Florida and New York quarrels is the same — dividing the executive authority and impairing the efficiency of government and the people's confidence in law and order.

It is a constitutional oversight, at least in the case of Florida. And every Arkansas should be proud to recall that it is an oversight which his own state recognized and remedied years ago. For once upon a time — about two decades ago — the No. 2 post in Arkansas' government was vacant as far as state-wide elections were concerned. Next in line of succession was the president pro tem of the Arkansas senate, chosen by the people of his own local district, not by all the people of the state.

We weren't any happier with our deficiency than than Florida is with hers today — but at least we had the foresight and resolution to provide then and there for a lieutenant-governor to be elected by all the state's people . . . just in case.

Blevins School to Hold Carnival Friday, Oct. 30

The ghost and goblin time of year will soon be here and the classes in high school and grade school are preparing for their annual Halloween Carnival to be held in the Blevins gymnasium on Friday night, October 30. Each high school class is to have a booth, and the grade school is to have a White Elephant Sale.

A candidate for Halloween king and queen has been chosen from each class. The contest is in full swing now and will continue until time is called at the carnival. The candidates who get the most votes will resign as king and queen.

The following are the king and queen candidates:
First grade: James Larry Jones, Betty Tippit. Second grade: Jimmy Carver, Carolyn Sue Brooks. Third grade: Victor Phillips, Brenda Wilson. Fourth grade: Cary Avery, Sue Clark. Fifth grade: Joe Harris, Annie Grace Polk. Sixth grade: Claude Polk, Linda Lou Woodwood.
Seventh grade: Darrell Corman, Betty Frances Smith. Eighth grade: Dillard Worley, Betty Joyce Shapley. Ninth grade: Charles Ray Jones, Gwen Campbell. Tenth grade: Jimmy White, Sally Stine. Eleventh grade: Donald Worley, Barbara Horton. Twelfth grade: Wyndell Nivens, Luvana Jo Raleigh.

Drouth Aid to More Counties in Six States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department yesterday extended special drought disaster aid to 29 more counties in 6 states — but not quickly enough to forestall some new blasts at Secretary Benson.

About the time the department was making its announcement, Rep. Chelf (D-Ky.) made public in Louisville, Ky., a telegram to Benson demanding to know why six counties in his state and "others which sorely need help" had not been designated as disaster areas.

The department announcement listed 12 Kentucky counties as eligible for drought aid, in addition to 13 others so designated earlier. Also made eligible were counties in Arkansas, Missouri, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Farmers in designated drought areas are eligible to buy government owned feeds at prices below the market level, and will be eligible to buy hay supplies under a cooperative federal-state program now being worked out.

Earlier yesterday, the White House had issued a summary showing that 425 counties in 13 states were then receiving drought aid. The states: Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Colorado, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Chelf wired Benson urging him to resign at once, "thereby preventing your later removal by a fine, but embarrassed president."

Chelf added: "I believe you are a good man but . . . that you are rather stupid."

Sen. Clements (D-Ky.) said here it was unfortunate the Agriculture Department had waited so long in certifying additional Kentucky counties for drought aid.

"If the top officials of the department had spent more time in Washington evaluating the reports on the drought . . . instead of barnstorming around the country in the interest of Secretary Benson's fallacious free-economy plans for farmers," he said, "drought aid could have been made available much sooner."

Hope Woodman Circle Takes in District Meet

A Southern District Convention No. 100 of the Supreme Forest Woodman Circle was held Tuesday at Texarkana with some 25 members attending from Poplar Grove No. 196 of Hope.

Miss Lucille Wall, Hope, state manager and national committee-woman, presided over the conference and Miss Lelia Lumpkins gave the welcome address. Miss Estell Waterson of El Dorado gave the response.

The next convention will be held in Hope with Poplar Grove Unit No. 196 as host. At the close of the afternoon session refreshments were served by the Texarkana Grove No. 537.

At the night session a Woodman Circle roundup was held in Elks Hall. Miss Lena Shugart, state manager of Texas installed all district officers of both states. Special drills were presented by Tyler, Texas, Texarkana and Hope units.

Miss Charleen Wiggins was crowned "Miss Woodman Circle of Arkansas."

Complaint From an Average Husband — Why Can't a Man Ever Have a Quiet Sunday?

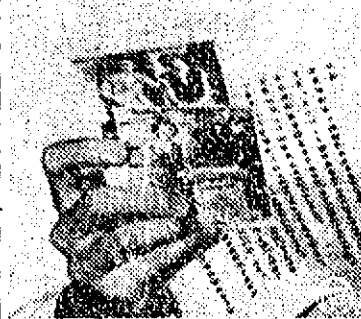

By Hal Boyle
HOMETOWN, U. S. A. — Wilbur Peeble, America's most average husband had a favorite speech of complaint, which ran as follows:

"The trouble with civilization is a man can't ever have a quiet Sunday. People always beating on your door, or calling you up wanting to go somewhere."

"No wonder everybody's a nervous wreck. After working hard all week, why can't a man just stay home and rest and relax on Sundays, like they did in the old days?"

After 15 years of listening to this little speech, his wife, Trellis Mae, got pretty tired of it. She decided to give Wilbur the kind of old-fashioned sabbath he yearned for.

So on this particular Sunday she

Buchanan Will Case Before High Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court yesterday heard attorneys for Arkansas and Texas on the disputed William Buchanan Foundation case and then took the matter under advisement.

Texas seeks to block a half-million dollar grant to the Bowen County, Tex., foundation to the University of Arkansas Hospital at Little Rock.

Arkansas Atty. Gen. Tom Gentry asked the high tribunal yesterday to take jurisdiction of the case as a dispute between two states.

The court will announce after whether it will consider the case. Mrs. Marietta McGreggor Creed and William H. Holloway, assistant attorneys general for Texas, presented Texas' arguments.

The foundation had agreed to give the school the half-million for use on a crippled children's addition to the university's $12 million dollar hospital now under construction.

In a Bowie County injunction, however, Texas contended that all funds were to be spent for the benefit of Bowie County residents. Gentry told the court that "the controversy is definitely between two states. 'It is our contention that Texas is interfering with our rights. Texas cannot decide on action against Arkansas in her own courts.'"

Mrs. Creed said it is a case in which the Texas attorney general has asked a state court to interpret a Texas trust insurance and therefore not within the jurisdiction of the U. S. Supreme Court.

The court justices showed a lively interest in the case and at least six of them quizzed the attorneys on particular points during the hour-long argument.

Record Fertilizer Production Seen

FAYETTEVILLE (AP) — The president of the American Plant Food Council said today that, barring unforeseen difficulties, "farmers can expect another fertilizer production record in 1953-54."

Paul T. Truitt of Washington, D. C., speaking at the third annual Arkansas Fertilizer School at the University of Arkansas, estimated that the record output of fertilizer for 1952-53 would be exceeded by 13 per cent in 1953-54.

Truitt said the farmers' battle against the "price-cost squeeze" would be a more acute problem "were it not for the vigilance of our land-grant colleges in using every effective method to lower the unit cost of agricultural production."

He was glad when Trellis Mae returned. He was beginning to be Continued on Page Three

Benson Insists He Will Stay With President

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON (UP) — "I didn't want this job, but I'm not going to quit so long as the President wants me here," Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson told the United Press in an exclusive interview shortly before Mr. Eisenhower gave him a 100 per cent endorsement.

The President blessed Benson yesterday in his news conference. A great many farmers do not feel that way about the secretary. He is in real political trouble.

"I certainly am not going to resign," he told this reporter. Benson said he would stay on the job even if Congress refuses to accept the farm program which he now is attempting to devise. He acknowledged Congress' right to accept or reject his recommendations "because Congress writes the laws."

"If Congress decides our recommendations are at politically expedient and changes them," Benson said, "I'm not going off to a corner and sulk. I'll administer the program Congress enacts to the best of my ability, so long as the President wants me to do that."

If Benson's recommendations would much change or in any way diminish present farm subsidies, Congress is very likely to reject them. The House Agriculture Committee has just completed a series of hearings in various parts of the country.

The word from the grass roots was clear. Benson and don't do much tinkering with the farm program, unless it be to extend and improve it. Not everyone wanted to fire Benson. But many did, including Republicans.

Student's Idea May Lead to Big Discovery

DETROIT (AP) — A 26-year-old Wayne University student's idea may have given the medical profession a long looked for heart-starter.

The electronic device is credited with having re-started a 50-year-old man's heart three times at Detroit's Receiving Hospital yesterday. One lapse was for 75 seconds, another for 35.

The patient is suffering from a "heart block," the exact cause of which is undetermined.

After the third re-start his condition was described as critical, and little hope was held for his recovery, but last night physicians reported him "vastly improved."

"He would have been dead several hours ago," said Dr. Ernest Gardner, "if the machine hadn't started his heart beating again."

The device is known as the cardiotron. The original idea for it came from Jean Rosenbaum, a 19-year medical student at Wayne.

Dr. Gardner, head of the anatomy department in Wayne's medical college, design and build it.

Rosenbaum theorized that the only way to revive hearts would be through electronic impulses.

One of the cardiotron's electrodes is attached to the skin of the chest. The other electrode is inserted through a needle in the chest cavity until it actually touches the heart.

The machine, which may be plugged into any conventional electrical outlet, sends out 80 to 90 electrical impulses per minute, each lasting about 1-100th of a second. It continues, Dr. Gardner said, until the heart develops a normal rhythm.

Dr. Gardner emphasized the cardiotron is designed for use only where the heart still is capable of contracting, but for some reason has failed to do so.

He expects its greatest use to be in re-starting hearts that stop during operations.

Say Reds Have Cut Air Power in Germany

By DANIEL DE LUCE
BERLIN (AP) — The Soviet Union has cut its jet air force Germany by 20 per cent. It was learned on high Western authority today.

One hundred twin-jet bombers, which had posed an atomic threat to the Western capitals, have been pulled out of Soviet bases lying between the Elbe and Oder.

Four hundred Soviet jet fighters still are in East Germany and constitute a powerful air screen for Russia's ramparts in Europe.

But the Soviet front line Air Force here is temporarily without bombers — and that means temporarily without a real offensive weapon.

The withdrawal of the twin-jets followed the surprise Russian evacuation of four air bases in East Germany in July and August. They have not been made operational again. The Russians keep a dozen other German fields in active use.

High officers in the West are not sure where the bombers were sent in the Soviet block or when replacements may arrive. The Kremlin's motive for the cutback is a puzzle too.

Not since 1950 have there been so few Communist jets in German territory. That was the year when the Soviet chancery from slower piston-engine planes occurred here.

Cab Driver Questioned by Police

ST. LOUIS, Mo., (UP) — Top police officials broadened their inquiry into the mystery of the missing half of the $500,000 Greenleaf kidnapping ransom today by questioning Joseph Costello, a former convict and head of a taxicab firm.

Officials said Costello, two of whose cabs were involved in the activities of kidnapping-slayer Carl Ans in Hall in the two days prior to his arrest here on Oct. 6, was called for questioning shortly before the inquiry board resumed the hearing.

It was an Aec cab driver, John Hager, who drove Hall about for nearly 24 hours and who furnished the kidnaper with a prostitute, Sandra O'Day. Another Aec cab was hired by Sandra to drive her to Kansas City, Mo., the following morning.

Hager informed Police Lt. Louis Shouder of Hall's wild spending and led officers to Hall's hide-away apartment. But the top officers conducting the inquiry, now in its fourth day, were reported to have information that Costello made several telephone calls indicating he knew of Hall's activities before his arrest.

Shoulders was questioned all day yesterday about his handling of the $293,000 found in Hall's apartment and his conduct in the case, as well as discrepancies in police accounts of the arrest of Hall and his accomplice, Mrs. Bonnie Heady.

What Shoulders told the officials was kept secret but police Chief Jeremiah O'Connell said he may be recalled later.

Council to Hear Report on Strife in Palestine

By TOM HOGE
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — The U. N. Security Council prepared today to hear a first-hand report on the growing strife in Palestine which has sparked a Big Three call for a full inquiry and counterdemands for council action from Syria and Israel.

May, Gen. Vagan Ben-Haim of Denmark, chief of the U. N. truce supervision group on the Israeli-Arab frontier, was due to arrive in New York today to make the spot report. U. N. informants said he might appear before the 11-nation council tomorrow.

Ben-Haim's report follows:
1. A U. S. request — backed by Britain and France — for a full-dress probe into border incidents between Israel and her neighbors, including the recent Kibya attack in which Jordan claims Israeli troops killed 60 persons and flattened the village. Israel says the attack was a retaliation for a series of killings by Arabs.

2. A Syrian complaint that Israel is endangering Middle East peace by diverting the waters of the historic River Jordan.

3. An Israeli counter demand that the council take up a charge that the Arab states violated the 1949 armistice agreements, engaged in illegal blockade measures and refused to negotiate a peace.

The Syrian complaint had been expected to come up before the council today but it was sidetracked by the overshadowing Big Three call for a probe into the border incidents.

A Syrian spokesman emphasized, however, that his country wants to keep its demand separate from the Big Three request. He said he hoped the council would take up the Jordan River issue Monday.

Work Orders Issued on Highway 79

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A work order that will provide a second all-weather, East-west Highway across Arkansas in the southern part of the state was issued today by the Highway Department.

The project calls for pavement of the 14.3 mile gravel gap on Highway 79 between Clarendon and Marianna at a cost of $350,000.

With completion of the work, Highway 79 will provide an all-weather interstate road between Memphis and Texarkana. Highway Department officials said it will relieve some of the congestion on the Highway 67-70 route that goes through Little Rock.

The new interstate route begins at West Memphis and is routed through Hughes, Marianna, Clarendon, Stuttgart, Pine Bluff, Fordyce, Camden and Texarkana. It will be no longer than the 67-70 route, and will have fewer steep grades.

The Southeast Construction Co., Pine Bluff, holds the contract for payment of the Clarendon-Marianna stretch.

Track Ends, Freight Car Blocks Crossing

A Missouri Pacific freight car simply ran out track here this morning and came to a standstill squarely across a street in the 500 block of East Division.

The car was being switched, hit a dirt blockade at the end of the siding and rolled on across the track. A trainman indicated it may be late today before the crossing can be cleared.

Three Hurt in Plant Blast at Camden

CAMDEN (AP) — Three workers were injured by an explosion at the International Paper Company mill in nearby Camden today this morning.

Details of the explosion were not available except that the blast occurred in a debris on the number three mill machine.

The injured workers, all taken to a Camden hospital, were identified as Fletcher Stone, Jerry Ward and Alton Lindsey. Stone was believed to be the most seriously hurt.

The explosion occurred at 9:15 a.m. The machine was damaged badly.

News Briefs

By United Press
LITTLE ROCK (UP) — Civil Defense authorities will be able to call on state agencies for personnel and equipment if a major disaster should occur in Arkansas, Gov. Francis Cherry yesterday ordered all executive officers and heads of state departments and institutions to use equipment and personnel in cooperation with civil defense.

Cherry said such aid will be available "at the request" of civil defense authorities. He said the order was a "necessary preparatory step in advance of actual disaster."

WASHINGTON (UP) — A total of 452,000 bales of 1953 cotton was ginned in Arkansas up to October 16, the U. S. Bureau of the Census reported today.

Mississippi County, largest cotton producing area in Arkansas, led the ginning with a total of 66,777 bales, Crittenden County, with 36,413 bales, was next.

Other large producing counties included: Craighead, 35,000 bales; S.R. Francis, 26,018; Polk, 26,030; Phillips, 25,597; Lee, 19,090; Clay, 10,610; Jefferson, 9,950.

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — State Welfare payments for October were down $405,730 from the comparable month of last year, State Welfare Director A. J. Moss said today.

Moss listed October payments totaling $2,209,345 to 65,775 grants in all categories of state welfare aid. October, 1952, payments totaled $2,677,075.

Largest payment was $1,739,578 to 54,823 cases in the old age assistance category. Moss said. Aid to dependent children totaled $397,502 for 7,174 cases.

Red Satellites End Walkout, No Concession

By FORREST EDWARDS
PANMUNJOM (AP) — The two Red satellite members of the Korean Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission ended a three-day walkout today but there was no indication they had won their point — that anti-Red Koreans be forced to hear Communist efforts to wheedle them home.

The explanations have been stalled since Monday when the Polish and Czech delegates left the commission after being voted down by the Indians, Swedes and Swis.

In today's meeting they apparently repeated the demand without success and the explanations remained at a standstill.

The Communist delegates are forcing the point by disregarding the 11,000 Chinese who apparently will listen, insisting instead on talking with the 7,600 Koreans who refused with a show of belligerence.

The Red reluctance to meet, the Chinese may grow from the allying propaganda meeting they took in the first two days of interview — only 11 of 121 Chinese chose the route to communism.

After unsuccessful efforts by Indian guards to get the Koreans peacefully to the interviews, the Red efforts were called off in stalemate.

Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya, Indian chairman of the repatriation commission, said after Thursday's session that Indian troops are unable to produce the Koreans "at this time."

AEC to Try to Tame Atoms for Peace

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States today announced the first full-scale attempt to tame atomic power for peace — a move billed as "America's answer" to Soviet claims of mastery over dread nuclear weapons of war.

Thomas E. Murray, a member said the Atomic Energy Commission will build an industrial power reactor producing at least 60,000 kilowatts of electrical energy — enough to run a city to 50,000.

To run the project will cost "many tens of millions of dollars," and that the AEC hopes to have an operating plant in three to four years.

The plant, Murray said, may be located "at or near" an AEC facility for separating uranium — 35 the plant of atomic power, from natural uranium. The AEC has one such facility at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and is building others at Paducah, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio.

He said Westinghouse Corp. will be the principal contractor for the new plant which, he said, is of a design "inherited from a naval project." Rear Adm. H. G. Rickover, the Navy's reactor expert, was given "immediate responsibility" for the new program.

Officers to Question Returning GI

TOKYO (UP) — PFC. Edward D. Dickenson, first American prisoner to change his mind about remaining with the Reds, arrived here today for talks with intelligence officers who hope to learn the identity of the ring leaders of 22 other pro-Communist GIs.

Dickenson, 25, of Cracker Neck, Va., left the American group in Indian custody yesterday and returned to United States control at Panmunjom.

The intelligence officers were told by Allied authorities in Panmunjom that getting the name of the American leader or leaders of the reluctant prisoners was of utmost importance.

"If we can crack the leader, some of the rest should follow him in requesting repatriation," said one American officer who will interview the prisoners.

Dickenson came to Korea more than three years ago and was captured on Nov. 5, 1950, while with the 1st Cavalry Division.

a bit bored. "Guess I'll call up Horace Mr. Whinnery, and see what's doing," he said. "Bet he'll try to talk me into a golf game."

"Dear, I had the phone turned off over the weekend so it wouldn't annoy you," said Trellis Mae.

"That's nice," said Wilbur dubiously. "Wondered why it didn't ring."

Late when he tried to tune in the radio-television set, Trellis Mae said it had broken down and could not be fixed until the next day.

"You won't have to bother about that nuisance ruining your Sunday," she said easily. "Why don't you curl up with a good book. They say only three out of 10 adult Americans read books any more."

Wilbur pulled down a book called "One Corpse to Go," read the last two pages and put it back, satisfied.

After a big mid-day meal, Wilbur tried to take a nap but couldn't sleep.

"An atom bomb could go off and we wouldn't know it," he mumbled moodily.

"Oh, we'd hear the warning sirens," said Trellis Mae.

Just then a siren screamed and Wilbur leaped two feet into the air.

"It's just the fire chief taking his family out for a ride," said Trellis Mae, glancing out the window.

Several times Wilbur, getting more restless by the minute, seemed to hear footsteps at the apartment door, but nobody rang the bell.

Finally he went to the door, opened it, and saw a sign in his wife's handwriting hanging from the knob: "Gone, for the weekend."

After two hours of nervous pacing back and forth Wilbur suddenly shaved, dressed, and told Trellis Mae:

"Let's go for a walk — just a short one."

He artfully steered their course past the McWhinney apartment, then said, "Let's run in and see Horace and Hortense — just for a moment. But you know how they are. Let's don't get stuck there all night."

"Come in," gratefully said Horace, who was in pajamas. "We were just spending a quiet Sunday at home."

After half an hour, Trellis Mae began saying, "We really must be going," and Wilbur kept replying, "Yes, yes, we really ought to."

But he made no attempt to get up. Well, then Hortense fixed a snack of fish canapés that always made Wilbur sick. Then they got out the cards. Then it was time to listen to the 11 p. m. news.

Then someone said, "Oh, let's look at the late TV movie, 'Love Beats Jackjaw.'"

Then Wilbur and Horace got into an hour long argument over the Eisenhower administration, and the clock struck 2 a. m. when the Peabody finally returned home.

Wilbur stopped off in the kitchen for some sodium bicarbonate to soothe his upset stomach, and then, as he sagged into bed, began to moan:

"The trouble with this civilization is a man can never spend a quiet—"

"Shut up!" said Trellis Mae. "Wilbur, you'll never spend a quiet Sunday unless I sell you to the zoo. They put a rule there the animals have to go to bed when it gets dark."

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: I married Stuart six years ago when I was 16 and he was 17. We now have two little girls, whom we adore, but here is my problem: Stuart waits until the last minute to pay a bill, and he is so distressed at parting with a penny that I had to go to work for food and clothing money. I pay a nursery school to care for the children. My husband won't pay the rent until the landlord threatens to take the case to court. The same goes for all utility bills. He earns a good salary, but what he does with the money I don't know. There's hope for a drunkard or philanderer, but what does one do with a man of this type.

SYLVIA

Answer: It seems to me that Jim was genuinely attracted to you, but didn't want to barge in on another fellow's territory. There may have been some reason why he felt he shouldn't pursue the acquaintance. Perhaps he had a girl friend home to whom he owed loyalty. There's no reason why you shouldn't try to find out something from him. Give him a call or write him an invitation to a gathering at your home. If the overture is rejected, all you can do is call it another summer romance that ended.

Dear Miss Dix: In June when I left school I parted from a boy I liked a lot. There's no chance of our paths crossing except by accident. He lives in another part of town and I thought of passing his house to see if I could see him, although it's out of my way. I also know some of his friends.

OLGA

Answer: Don't be so obvious in your pursuit of the boy as to go miles out of your way to pass his house. Rather, get the help of a mutual friend in your quest, mention more of less casually that you would like to know how X is doing and would like to see him again. Someone is bound to pick up the gambit and offer to arrange a double date.

LUCKY FIND

TUCSON, Ariz. — Carlos Delahanty found a bag containing $7,365 in cash which had fallen from an armored car. He returned it and was told he would receive $350 in rewards.

Delahanty, a truck driver, has to work at three other part-time jobs to support his 15 children.

The trouble with this civilization is a man can never spend a quiet—

"Shut up!" said Trellis Mae. "Wilbur, you'll never spend a quiet Sunday unless I sell you to the zoo. They put a rule there the animals have to go to bed when it gets dark."

Arkansas Masons to Be Honored

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Southern Jurisdiction of the Supreme Council 33 Degree, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite Masons has chosen nine Arkansians to receive the 33rd Masonic degree.

The degrees will be conferred here Friday.

Arkansas recipients will be Roy C. Bolling, Altus; Othier S. Guerin, Fort Smith; Walter C. Guy, North Little Rock; John W. Ham, Little Rock; August D. Linzel, Little Rock; William B. Miller, Van Buren; Hal F. Minniss, Little Rock; Harold E. Roll, St. Joe; and Carroll P. Thomas, Little Rock.

DOLLY M.

Answer: It seems to me that Jim was genuinely attracted to you, but didn't want to barge in on another fellow's territory. Casey Named Manager of Year

By BOB MYERS

GLENDAL, Calif. (AP) — Casey Stengel is duly grateful for the fourth time in five years, to be named baseball's Manager of the Year.

He made this point as clear as Mc Stengel can make anything clear when advised at his home that he had won the 1953 award, handed down.

"The New York Yankee skipper received 107 of the 179 votes cast by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America in the annual Associated Press poll.

"The vote was quite a tribute to the 64-year old manager, the only man ever to manage a team to five straight world championships. Never a man without a word, Casey none the less had to tolerate around a bit for new ones to express his pleasure. After all, he won this same distinction in 1949, 1950 and 1952.

Mississippi Picked to Down the Razorbacks

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — Last week's special whinnies were didn't work in 12 of 47 cases and so this list of selections is made with the old hat-in mind—just stab and the team you hit is the winner.

The numerous setbacks of last Saturday resulted in a 7-5 average. That pulled the season's figures down to 159 correct, 49 wrong for an average of 76.7.

But just as though nothing had happened, here are this week's picks:

Notre Dame over Georgia Tech; Tech's string of 31 games without defeat ends after a terrific struggle, Leon Hardman's running and Bill Brannigan's passing will keep the country's No. 1 college team in a tizzy all afternoon.

Michigan State over Purdue;
Michigan State wants to climax its first season in the Big Ten by going to the Rose Bowl.

Southern California over California; The many, many Trojans to keep Cal's Paul Larson bottled up in the big Coast game that should be settled by a touchdown or less.

Kentucky over Villanova; The Blues Grass Wildcats have finally found some help for Steve Mellinger.

Minnesota over Michigan; It doesn't seem possible that Duncen McDonald can pull the Wolverines out of the hole three Saturdays in a row. It will be Michigan's first victory from home.

Navy over Penn; Another step by the Midshipmen in their climb to the title as the East's best.

Baylor over Texas A&M; Baylor has four backs who must be stopped if the Aggies are to win.

Bobcats Battle Nashville Here Tonight at 8

It's Homecoming tonight for the Hope Bobcats when they take the field against their bitter rivals, the Scrappers of Nashville tonight at 8 o'clock at Hannuon Stadium.

Last weekend the Scrappers dropped a 33-15 decision to the De-Queen Leopards while Hope was smothered by Fayetteville 33 to 0. So both teams will try to rebound and as Coach Lawrence Martin put it
"We will have to bounce back more."

Earlier in the season Hope and DeQueen played to a 7-7 deadlock at DeQueen but injuries to several key players have hampered the Bobcats since and several will not see action again this week, their injuries being re-injured in the Fairview bout.

But the Bobcats have worked hard in training this week and Coach Martin reports a very high spirit. The boys want this win bad but it will take the extreme effort of all to turn the trick.

Nashville and Hope have been spirited rivals since way back and when the two met together cold-go out the window.

Probable starting lineups:

SMU Nations Best on Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — Navy's rising stardom is fast gaining a reputation as a team that can not only win a game but can put the opponents' backs on their opponents.

While the Sabars drew nationwide attention to an offense that scattered Princeton 65-7 Saturday, the official NCAA Service Bureau statistics show they also rank first in both total defense and passing defense among major college teams. The Midshipmen have yielded only 167.5 yards a game, 200 and a more 9.8 yards
a punt.

Southern Methodist is the No. 1 club in both total and rushing defense by virtue of holding each opponents to 153.3 yards per contest overall and 77 yards on the ground. The Mustangs, who upset Rice with the aid of a goal line stand last Saturday, had earlier held Georgia Tech to a net of 33 yards while losing 6-4.

Yale, which leads the field in defending its end zone by allowing only 1.8 points per game, stands second in total defense with a 152.8
yards per game average.

Now is second in rushing defense with 77.3 yards following successive Saturdays when they forced Michigan to the air and slowed down Wyoming's running ace Joe Montgomery.

In the pass defense department
Wake Forest is the most effective, allowing only 27 yards a game.
Texas Christian, meanwhile, is getting the most mileage out of its backs, 43.7 yards for each of 21 backs.

Arizona, Washington and Louisiana State are the pass interception leaders with 13 apiece. Mississippi already has accounted for four blocked kicks—thanks mainly to the demon-like charges of guard Crawford Alms.

A total of 573 blast furnaces were available for the production of pig-iron and ferroalloys in the United States during 1952, with a total output of 12,168,000 tons per year.

Maybe Irish Will Win One for Lattner

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Not that he hasn't been a man in the past, but All America Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame will celebrate a fine Saturday, his 21st birthday.

Now, everyone knows how the Fighting Irish, steeped in tradition, have gone out in the past and won games for Rocky, Gipp, even Coach Frank Leahy and others.
Can't you just hear the lads say Saturday: "Let's win this one for Johnny!"

Lattner's birthday couldn't have come at a more opportune time.
The Irish will square off against Georgia Tech, unbeaten in 31 games.

And when Notre Dame decides to win a game for someone, it usually does. Even when it doesn't decide to dedicate the game to anyone in particular, it usually wins anyhow.

This business of getting steamed up for victory is not tinsel. It's a nebulous something that Notre Dame possesses possibly more than any other school. It's a real secret weapon.

Notre Dame is favored from 7 to 10 points by the odds-makers
Saturday, but there are some experts who think this spread is too much. Despite No. 1 ranking and three triumphs over Oklahoma, Purdue and Pittsburgh, the Irish cannot be classified as great.

They've fought, like only they can do in their usual pent-up mood, and they have played with cunning cleverness. They have recovered 11 of 17 fumbles by the opposition, with Captain Don Ponza, right end, personally retrieving four of them.

They've blocked punts and fished six enemy passes. In all, 10 of their 12 touchdowns have grown from being opportunistic.

Lattner, a right halfback who has been averaging nearly 50 minutes per game, has gained 90 yards in 36 carries for an unremarkable 2.4 average. But he has caught seven passes for 98 yards, averaging 37 yards per punt, and played

Olson Comes Through as Favored

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—Bobo Olson may not be the greatest middle-weight boxing champion the world has seen, but the tattooed man from Hawaii will do until a better one comes along.

He did a competent job on Randy Turpin of England in their 15-round showdown at Madison Square Garden last night before a capacity crowd of 13,889. He did not score a knockout, but only because the man from Leanington Spa had a tremendous lot of heart when he was being badly punished in the closing rounds.

Turpin did show up, despite every doubt that he would, and he made a fight of it for a national television audience. He made no complaint of the unanimous verdict against him by two judges and the referee. He said only between battered lips that he believed he could have done better if he had been free mentally, or words to that effect.

Exactly what he meant by that is not clear here. It is a matter of record, however, that he has been having some sort of feminine trouble back home. After the fight he told a British writer that he thought he might have knocked Olson out without eight rounds if he had been "right."

This particular observer saw the bout more or less as the officials did. We thought that Olson wallowed the piliated Briton by 10 rounds to 4, with 1 even—in other words, that he won the title going away. Turpin won his first three rounds and then he took a wacking. His only other round was the eighth, wherein he belted Olson a right on the chops that staggered the new champ. However, Turpin was so tired he was unable to follow up his advantage.

Rare Impeachments

There have been only 11 impeachment trials before the United States Senate and only three of these resulted in convictions, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

After awhile you come to the conclusion that there's only one way to pick Southwest Conference and AIC football games this year. That's to decide which team ought to win, then choose the other.

We should've done it that way last week, when—thanks only to fair consistency among the high schoolers—we came out just well enough to keep our season percentage of 70.2 from dropping.

Starting fresh for this week, it looks like:

Ole Miss Over Arkansas — The Razorbacks should be nearer full strength this week than they have been at any other time this season, and a team with a great all-around back like Lamar McLean is not to be taken lightly. But the Rebels' offense appears too fearsome again.

Ozarks over Henderson — The thought of a prediction like that six weeks ago would have sent a forecaster to a psychiatrist. But Ozarks have produced the goods so far; the overrated Reddies haven't.

Southern State over State Teachers—Louis Sanford and his Mule-rider mates are rolling now. The Tutors have shown strength but are too inconsistent.

Arkansas Tech over Little Rock JC—Here are two teams which have blinded this crystal gazer every week. The difference could be that it's homecoming for the Wonder Boys.

Arkansas State over Lewis College—The Indians would like to get one that isn't close for a change.

Arkansas A&M over Northeast Center of Louisiana—Jim Benton is getting the most out of an undermanned Aggie squad with his T trickery.

Hendrix over Southwestern — It may not have been a cure all, but switching from the double wing to the T sure helped the Warriors.

Southeast Oklahoma over Ouchita — Too much power for the non-subsidized Tigers who have managed to keep their slate clean so far.

Baylor over Texas A&M — The Aggies have gone farther than anyone dreamed without losing, but they can't handle the fearsome foursome that makes up the Baylor backfield.

Texas over Rice—A dandy that could go either way without being an upset.

SMU over Kansas — The Mustangs gradually are developing a dangerous attack to go with their great defense.

TCU over Penn State—If the disappointing Frogs lose a fourth straight, they ought to forget trying to use the split T and go back to their old standby double wing and spread stuff.

In the high school arena: Little Rock over El Dorado, Texarkana over Fort Smith, Malvern over Hot Springs, Pine Bluff over Camden, Springfield, Mo., over Fayetteville, Springfield over Bentonville, Huntsville over Van Buren, Blytheville over Millington, Tenn., Russellville over Forrest City, Newport over Paragould, Benton over Arkadelphia, Conway over Searcy, Hope over Nashville, Magnolia over Fairview, DeQueen over Smackover.

Siloam Springs over Alma, Pochontas over Bald Knob, Batesville over McCrory, Piggott over Marked Tree, West Memphis over Wilson, Keiser over Craxfordville, Wynne over Earle, Osceola over Portageville, Mo., Clarksville over Atkins, Greenwood over Waldron, Ozark over Paris, Booneville over Subiaco, St. Anne's of Fort Smith over Ola, Bauxite over Sheridan, DeWitt over Marianna, Stuttgart over Helena, Stamps over Rison, Lake Village over Crossett, Dumas

Wyatt Trying to Develop Scoring Punch

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas Southern Methodist and Texas Christian hope to be at full strength for their inter-sectional games this week.

So did Baylor and Texas A&M for their crucial battle of undefeated Southwest Conference eleven.

But in another family fight, Texas and Rice planned to put crippled teams on the field.

Arkansas plays Mississippi at Memphis; Southern Methodist plays Kansas at Lawrence, and TCU goes up against Penn State in State College, Pa.

Texas coach Ed Price cancelled contact work for the rest of the week yesterday to avoid more injuries to his Longhorn squad.

The Texas team has lost its No. 1 fullback, Bill Long, because of a kidney injury; its No. 2 left end, Howard Moon, because of a fractured arm; and reserve guard Don McGraw, out with a bruised shoulder.

Fullback Bobo Garbrecht and right halfback Morris Stone of Rice, took no part in practice yesterday and were not expected to over Hamburg, Eudora over Warren, McGee over Star City, Dermott over Monticello.

go against the Longhorns.

Texas Aggies finished heavy contact work yesterday with a rough offensive scrimmage.

Conen Ray George, who has predicted a defeat for his unbeaten team in the game with Baylor, said his squad would be in the best physical shape of the season.

The Pears reviewed defensive assignments today and worked on punter protection, punt and kickoff returns.

The Methodists scrimmaged defensively against Kansas plays yesterday and then polished their own offense against the freshmen.

Coach Bowden Wyatt of the Arkansas Razorbacks puts his charge through intensive drills designed to produce a scoring punch. The Hogs have been woefully lacking inside their opponents' 20-yard line all season.

Backs Billy Pickens and Henry Moore, injured three weeks ago against TCU, ran at full speed today and are expected to go against Mississippi.

Texas Christian had trouble stopping Penn State plays as executed by the freshmen team yesterday.

Coach Abe Martin put the team through a tough defensive session.

Seeks $122,000 in Damage Suit

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Automobile dealer H. B. Sparks seeks $122,000 damages from oilman Bayard G. Gaylor, whose ram, he alleges, "battered his horns into the rear portion of your plaintiff's" Aug. 17 while "racing at a high and unusual speed."

In a petition filed yesterday in Civil District Court, Sparks said he was thrown 20 feet.

Gaylor, informed of the suit, said he'd named Sparks about the ram. He added: "I've gotten rid of it."

Fight on to Keep H. S. Hospital

MONTICELLO (AP)—A move to prevent closing of the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs picked up momentum today as U. S. Rep. W. P. Norrell (D-Ark) asked for an interpretation of "intent" of Congress.

Norrell, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, said Congress appropriated money for the hospital earlier this year and apparently intended that it remain in operation.

The Army announced Wednesday that the 400-bed hospital would be closed down March 1.

Norrell said last night he asked Washington for a legal interpretation of "intent of Congress." The hospital was created by an act of Congress and Norrell said he was of the opinion that it would take an act of Congress to close it.

GOP Leaders Dance Around Big Question

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey made a 3,000-word speech about the national economy last Tuesday in San Francisco. But he danced very gingerly around one of the most important questions facing the Eisenhower administration in 1954: Will it be able to balance the budget next year?

Yesterday Humphrey's deputy, W. Randolph Burgess, was asked the question point-blank after a talk with representatives of business publications. Burgess replied that he could not say because "this goes back to what is done in the Defense Department."

In the next couple of months President Eisenhower faces decisions which, in the long run, may be as critical as any he has made.

Two of the most important concern government spending which involves balancing the budget or trying to, and national defense. For weeks government bureaus and departments have been at work on the budget which Eisenhower will offer Congress next January.

The items which go into the budget must be checked over by department heads and the bureau concerned, reduced where possible by the Budget Bureau under direction of Joseph M. Dodge, finally approved by Eisenhower, and then printed in voluminous list as a metropolitan telephone directory. This work will not be finished before the end of 1953.

If it were not for the huge sums needed in the defense program, the Eisenhower administration would have little trouble next year balancing the budget. Defense spending is far and away the biggest item in the budget, so whether Eisenhower balances it or not depends mostly on how much defense spending can be cut in the fiscal year starting next July 1.

Humphrey on Tuesday and Secretary of Defense Wilson on Monday talked in a way that indicated the administration is thinking about defense and defense spending in terms like this:

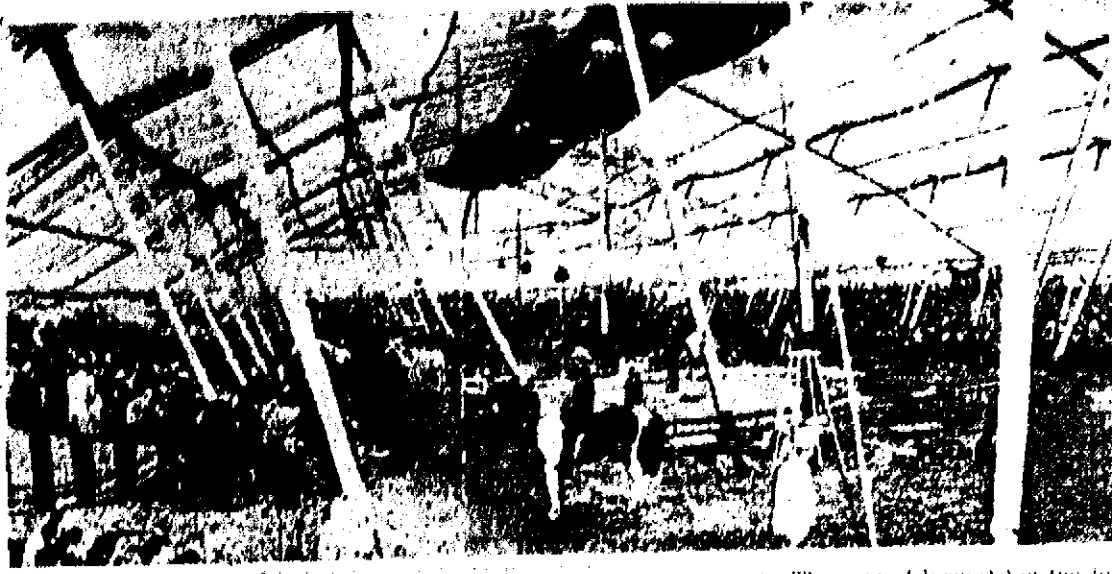

Another Movie Pair Breaks Up

He said he was carrying the cash in his wallet so he could cash payroll checks today.

The second largest big top in the world shown above, will be erected at the Fairgrounds on Friday, when the Clyde Beatty Railroad Circus appears in Hope with shows at 3 and 8 p.m.

The main circus tent seats 3,000 people with every seat affording a clear view of the performers in the three rings and on the hippo-drome track.

Brought to Hope by the Third District Livestock Show, the Clyde Beatty Circus will be the first railroad show to appear in many years.

The show boasts 400 performers in 40 acts and features the Honeford Bareback Riding Family, the famous Jourdides, the flying Kents, plus 50 lovely aerial ballet stars. Of course the "Fanny Forty" clown will be on hand as well as the Liberty Horses trained elephants, acrobats, jugglers, tight wire walkers, etc.

Star and owner of the show is Clyde Beatty, "Mr. Circus himself," who presents his thrilling act of mixing 30 lions and tigers in the big center steel arena. He appears in person at every performance.

The world's largest traveling menagerie of wild animals is also carried with the Beatty show and admission to the menagerie tent is included in the one-circus ticket.

Doors will open one hour before show time Friday to permit the "small fry" to have plenty of time to see all the animals.

Red Heads Don't Cry

by ROY L. FOLEY

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

MOIRA raised her voice again and again. Linda heard Nancy say she must speak in a lower tone.

Moira rattled on in a voice some what lower but still loud enough for Linda to make out nearly all she said. She was telling that she and Sam had arrived from Florida by bus that morning. She said it was a "hell of a trip," but they had come that way because it was cheaper. She said that when they arrived in town they had about a dollar and a half between them because Sam had been nearly cleaned out of his winnings.

Linda heard Nancy ask, "What winnings?"

Moira said that she and Sam would have to stay at the Kelly home until Sam got a job or she got a job. She said that Sam wouldn't be out of work long.

"Is that guy respectable? He can make money at anything."

Linda heard Mrs. Eustis returning and stepped out of the room to prevent her from coming in. Linda asked to see some other type of dress, and when Mrs. Eustis left she stepped back into the fitting room.

She heard Nancy inquire what time of work Sam followed.

"Oh, he represents people. Amusement companies, you know. Son machines and equipment and all that. He's got the most connections."

Moira was talking louder again.

"Say, Sis, how about giving me a job modeling in this place? I've got a good figure if I do say it myself. I modeled at Bernstein's, remember? They liked me, it only old Bernstein didn't get so fresh."

Linda heard Nancy reply that the shop did need a model but if Moira was given the job it would be on the condition that she learned to hold her tongue.

As Linda was being helped with her silver mink by Mrs. Eustis, preparing to leave the shop, a large overdressed dowager entered.

Linda saw that the woman was laden with jewels.

She had a new idea.

During the next few weeks as the excitement of the shop opening began to wear off, Nancy began more and more to wonder whether she hadn't allowed her fierce ambition to somewhat run away with her good judgment.

Now, and more she realized that an impatient ambition is one thing and that experience in business is quite another. That's why, as the days melted into weeks, she thanked heaven for the quiet, swift efficiency of Mrs. Eustis.

Mrs. Eustis was a jewel. She was a world of experience in shop management in buying and selling, and she knew feminine psychology.

She tended to the shop's business and she minded her own business, and she was no gossip. She was above gossip. As Nancy began to learn

Mrs. Eustis' character better, she was amazed to know that one individual could combine such executive ability with gentility and good appearance.

Nancy had spoken of this to Phil Stanley, and his answer given without intent to hurt her, she ended afterwards, did twist itself into her heart.

He had said, "Of course, Mrs. Eustis is an excellent person. She has been one of the Virginia Gollards, and her mother was a Gollard."

Breeding, indeed.

Was that Stanley's snub? When he had made the remark, that old surge of rebellion that Nancy was forever having to battle, made her want to make a challenging remark. To inquire why, if Mrs. Eustis was such a first-class lady, she was out in a mid-west city earning her living like thousands of other women who could boast no relationship to the Gollards or the Lodges, whoever the Lodges might be.

She had decided that she had better hold her tongue. Mrs. Eustis was a person of character. Nancy respected her, and if Phil was a snob he certainly had laid aside his snobbery in his treatment of her so far. He had been consideration itself, he had been a good to her ambitions.

Why?

Some day she intended to ask him. The opportunity came sooner than she expected. It came one night just before it was time to close the shop. Phil came in and straightaway announced to Nancy that she was going to dinner with him.

"Oh, am I?"

She meant, by her inflection, that she wasn't.

"You are."

He was smiling. His tone was half casual, half positive.

"People would talk, they're gossiping now."

"Are they?"

"You know they are."

"Let's really have them something to talk about."

"I don't think I know what you mean."

"Don't bother your pretty head now. I'll give you five minutes to powder your nose, to get your hat and coat on."

He took out his watch.

"Don't think, Mr. Phil Stanley, that because you own this shop that you own me. It's quitting time. I'm through taking orders for the day."

Nancy's eyes were laughing now, though she did very well at setting her mouth in what she hoped was a straight, stern line.

Phil said, "I don't own this shop—you do."

Nancy didn't answer that one. She knew that her name was on a sign over the door. She did know that the Nancy Kelly she was once, and the Nancy Kelly she was now, were hardly the same person. She knew that impulse had a battle in her heart, and impulse having won, she had been carried along to this day, but she wasn't foolish enough to think that because her name was over a shop door she owned the shop.

She had been a stenographer in a law office, a slave to a desk, as the saying goes, a girl who knew the necessity of washing and ironing a blouse at night when she was almost too tired to eat supper, just so that she might appear fresh the next day.

So she could keep up the standard of appearances that befit a big, downtown law office—so that she might earn forty dollars a week.

Now she was greeting customers in a clothes shop, wearing smart dresses, working hard all day, yet loving it all. She felt that she was living at last. Still, far back in her consciousness, there were little gnawing pains that sometimes wouldn't be stifled.

Little pains of thought that she was losing her old friends, that as her ambitions had brought her into acquaintance with new people, a different kind of people than she had always known, she somehow had hurt and heartlessly left the old ones behind.

Phil had just declared that he didn't own the shop, that she did. He was joking, of course, and that evening she had felt a nostalgia to see and talk to some of the people she had worked with at Spencer and Charles' law office. She wanted to see Lucy Wardle. Lucy had come into the shop once or twice but its simple elegance evidently had been too much for her. Once Lucy had met Phil Stanley there and had been stricken almost speechless. She had blushed and acted self conscious.

Nancy felt like saying, "Lucy, for heaven's sake don't be so humble," but of course she couldn't. She had felt impatient with Lucy, sorry for her and loyal to her, all at the same time.

Nancy felt that Lucy by this time must consider her a lost woman and she knew that the buzz of gossip about her among other girls in the office must now have reached a crescendo.

Nancy wasn't afraid of the gossip. She was keeping to her resolve to slay a dragon, one of whose heads was called Fear. Still she would like to know just what was being said among those with whom she had once worked.

She had wanted to call Lucy tonight, perhaps to take her to a movie, and here was Phil Stanley standing before her, watch in hand, announcing that he was going to take her to dinner and that she had five minutes to powder her nose and get ready.

Narrow Wage Difference Is Blamed

SEARCHY (UP) — An international - known economist believes that a narrowing wage differential between skilled and unskilled workers is one of the big problems causing labor unrest.

Dr. Frank L. Holmes, director of Harding College's New School of American Studies, told the 14th annual Freedom Forum here yesterday that recent wage adjustments have tended to re-establish differences in pay between skilled and unskilled workers.

"But," said Holmes, "this does not solve the problems for union leaders who must placate the 50-million members of organized labor who pay the same union dues."

Holmes said another labor problem is what to do with the older worker. He said the number of laborers staying on the job after 40 has dropped from 68 per cent in 1930 to only 40 per cent today.

Earlier, Dr. Melchior Palyi, Chicago, told the 31 delegates attending the five-day forum that "boom" are bad and that a slight recession would be good for this country.

"A healthy situation will exist in this country's economy if five per cent of the employable people are unemployed," he said. "Full employment overstrains resources."

The forum will continue through Friday.

Arkansan Goes to Drouth Meeting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Sen. Marvin Melton of Jonesboro will represent Arkansas in a drought relief conference at Kansas City tomorrow.

Gov. Cherry yesterday designated Melton to attend the session. Cherry also disclosed that 97,000 tons of hay will be needed this winter by drought-stricken Arkansas farmers.

Mexican Dancer Attends Memorial

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (UP) — A memorial for Gloria Mestre, reported killed near Monterrey in a plane crash, was transformed into a wild celebration last night when Mexico's prima ballerina and movie star walked into the theater.

Miss Mestre made her entrance even as the audience was observing a minute of silence in her memory.

Miss Mestre was scheduled to perform with other dancers at the dedication of Falcon Dam. Instead, she said, she changed her mind and went to an ocean resort.

The orange was the size of the strawberry before it was developed.

Murder Trial Ends in Split Jury

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A 7-5 jury split resulted in the mistrial yesterday of O. W. (Jack) Smith, Little Rock bondsman, accused of fatally shooting his secretary here last January.

Judge Harry C. Robinson declared the mistrial after the Pulaski Circuit Court jury failed to agree on a verdict after deliberating an hour and 40 minutes.

Mrs. Dolores McLaughlin Edwards, 21-year-old Malvern divorcee, was hit by bullets fired in Smith's office. The 45-year-old Smith, who pleaded self-defense, told police at the time he was shooting at Irving Newcomb, 28, another of his employees.

Prosecutor Tom Downie charged yesterday in his opening remarks that the shooting was caused by a "love affair" between Smith's wife and Newcomb.

Judge Robinson said the case would be retried "at a later date, by a different jury."

The Chinese are said to have been the first to use stiffs.

Something really Special
-in power, room, ride, price

WE picture here a car that keeps our order book pages turning quicker than quick.

It is the 1953 Buick SPECIAL 4-Door Sedan—the bargain value that doesn't stay long on our showroom floor.

For this is the best-selling Buick in the land—snapped up by eager buyers who know something really special when they see it.

For your information, we present some SPECIAL facts.

It has a Fireball 8 Engine with the highest power and compression ratio ever placed in a Buick SPECIAL—plus, if you wish, the instant getaway response and utter smoothness of Twin-Turbine Dynaflo.*

It has easy-sitting-room for six adults—as much room as you'll find in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

It has a ride unique among automobiles. The Buick Million Dollar Ride. The soft and steady and ever-level ride that comes of coil springs on all four wheels—a full-length torque-tube drive—a massive X-braced frame—a solid and substantial roadweight poised with meticulous balance on broadly spaced wheels.

But what makes the Buick SPECIAL so extra special is the low delivered price it carries.

It is a price just an easy step above the so-called "low-price three"—and a price that gives you more room and power and ride-comfort for your money than you get in any other car, except another Buick.

Wouldn't you like to see, sit in and drive one of these great-powered Buicks—look into its beauty, its luxury, its handling ease—and judge for yourself how small a price tag it wears?

Phone us this week, or drop in. We'll be happy to arrange a demonstration.

McClellan Calls Hospital Deal Mistake

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) today told the Department of Defense it had made a "serious mistake" in ordering the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs closed and insisted upon reconsideration of the order.

The senator, in a telegram to the secretary of defense, also questioned the secretary's authority to close the hospital without an act of Congress.

Sen. McClellan said: "I wholeheartedly support all feasible and practical administrative efforts and action toward saving this institution. But the closing of this institution will not result in economy, or will it improve the medical service this government is obligated to provide its military personnel. Instead, such service will be hampered and extreme inconvenience and hardship imposed. Further, it is doubtful that you have this authority without an act of Congress directing that this institution be closed."

"I therefore respectfully but urgently insist your immediate reconsideration and prompt reversal of the action your department has taken."

Girl Falls From Bluff Injured

OZARK (AP) — A 10-year-old girl was injured critically late yesterday when she fell 75 feet down a bluff near here.

Attendants at a hospital in nearby Clarksville said this morning that Shirley Cowen suffered a fractured skull, back injuries, cuts and bruises. Her condition was described as critical.

Witnesses said Miss Cowen was walking along the edge of highland Cemetery bluff when she slipped and fell.

Workers Return at Memphis Plant

MEMPHIS (AP) — Workers were back on the job today at the city-owned Light, Gas & Water Division following settlement of a six-day strike.

A straight 8 1/2 per cent increase was agreed on yesterday. The strikers had asked 10 per cent. Monthly pay, before the increase, ranged from $200 to $400.

The strikers are not represented by a union.

STYLED FOR CONVERSATION—So that blind-and-deaf individuals may communicate more easily with persons who have all their faculties, Rev. Ernst Christian Stribensson, of The Church of The Deaf, in Topeka, Kan., has designed the "communications" glove at right. By use of a braille-imprinted cardboard "hand," at left, the deaf mute learns position of letters on the glove, and is enabled to identify them by pressure, when a sighted person is quizzed various letters to form words and sentences.

DEMOCRATIC LADY—Mrs. India Edwards' choice as director of women's activities of the Democratic National Committee. It will be her job to lure many women voters back into the Democratic fold for the coming congressional elections.

Senator Wants Assistance for Farmers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) today asked President Eisenhower to call a special session of Congress, if necessary, to assist drought-stricken Arkansas farmers of government assistance until early spring.

McClellan wired the President that drought disaster in this and other states "is far more critical than the secretary of agriculture seems to realize."

"The assistance presently provided is inadequate and must be accelerated and expanded if distress is to be relieved and stock owners enabled to save their herds. The $10 to 15 million dollar fund may yet be available to carry on the program will be wholly insufficient to meet requirements from now until the regular session of Congress in January. If of substantial additional fund can be made available for this program without an appropriation from Congress, then I respectfully urge you to call a special session of Congress to provide the additional fund that will be needed."

Farmers Placing Cotton in Loan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Democrat said today that Arkansas farmers are putting their cotton into federal loan rather than selling it to the market because loan prices are far above market prices.

Through last week, 10,000 bales of Arkansas cotton had gone into federal loan. A new total was due to be reported late today.

One cotton broker explained: "When a cotton farmer can get more from the federal loan than he can on the market, of course he is going to go into the loan. However, there are a lot of farmers who are holding cotton themselves, neither putting it into the loan or selling it to the market. They're just waiting."

American May Be Nobel Prize Winner

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — An American and a British biochemist were reported here today as likely choices for this year's Nobel prize in medicine and physiology. The winners of the $33,000 award will be announced tomorrow night by Stockholm's Caroline Institute of Medicine, which distributes the annual awards under the terms of the will of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

The Swedish afternoon newspaper Expressen said the top candidates were Dr. Fritz A. Lipmann of the Harvard School of Medicine, and Dr. Adolph Krebs of Sheffield University in Britain.

Both rank among the world's leading authorities on metabolism of the human cells.

Jury Frees Man on Liquor Counts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Federal Court jury here yesterday acquitted Charles Jess Vaughn, an Arkansas County merchant and landowner, of four federal liquor law violations.

Vaughn, of Lodge's Corner, was one of three persons accused of owning and operating a still. Also tried was Mrs. Mildred Collins of near Lodge's Corner.

Her husband, Edward Collins, pleaded guilty to the charges and received a three-year suspended sentence.

Guianans Surprised at British Charge

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP) — British Guianans generally expressed surprise today over official British charges that the colony's ousted leftist government plotted to burn business property and homes of government officials and white men.

But officials of the People's Progressive Party (PPP)—which controlled the government before Britain revoked the colony's constitution Oct. 9 and fired six Cabinet officials—took the line that the accusations were an imperialist-inspired concoction brewed by the London government and its representatives in the colony.
